Happy Like Soccer

by Maribeth Boelts

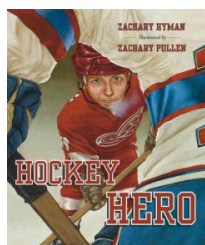

Loving to play soccer more than anything else, Sierra regrets that her beloved auntie is so busy working that she is unable to take time off to watch Sierra play.

H.O.R.S.E.

by Christopher Myers

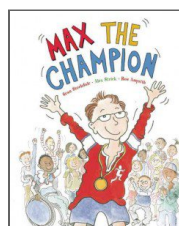

Take a look at the art of one-upmanship and creativity as a game of basketball grows into an exploration of the imagination.

Hockey Hero

by Zachary Hyman

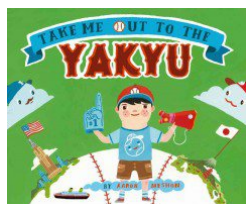

Shy Tommy is afraid to step on the ice despite his hockey fandom, but when his grandfather encourages him and teaches him how to play, he gets a chance to prove himself.

Max the Champion

by Sean Stockdale

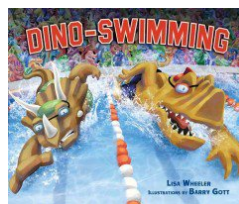

Max spends his day dreaming that he and his classmates -- who all have different skills and abilities -- are competing in world class sporting events.

Take Me Out to the Yakyu

by Aaron Meshon

A little boy's grandfathers, one in America and one in Japan, teach him about baseball and its rich, varied cultural traditions.

Dino-Swimming

by Lisa Wheeler

The Algae Eaters (plant-eating dinosaurs) compete against the Land Sharks (meat-eating dinosaurs) at a dramatic, funny swimming meet.
